ABOUT MENLOPARK:

Menlopark Technologies was born at the nexus of two powerful trends; Embedded Systems, and Automotive Electronics evolution. After launching our Embedded Engineering Solutions in 1994 as a part of the Embedded Software Development Systems Private Limited family we saw the opportunity, or more precisely the need, to provide highly integrated software and hardware solutions that accelerate time to market.

Our one-stop service for embedded systems development encompasses not only RTOS, compilers and debuggers, but also various other services, such as design automation, software test automation, AUTOSAR and in-vehicle infotainment systems.

The strategic partnership with PORT is to serve the customers and clients across the country and to continuously deliver better services and support in Industrial Communications.
